Atlantic Pact Conferees In Extra Session

Defense Plans For Western Europe Remain Secret

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—North Atlantic nations military leaders went into an extra session today in an effort to work out the final form for organizing a mutual defense force in Western Europe.

Apparently prolonged discussion of the much-debated proposal for German participation in the plan had delayed the work of the defense committee and prevented scheduled termination of the meeting last night.

Still silent of what exactly had been accomplished and what was still in debate, the committee recessed after six hours of sessions yesterday. No communiqué was issued. A spokesman said only that the conferees would gather again this morning.

To Inspect Military Posts

The foreign defense ministers and the military chiefs of staff of the 12 North Atlantic nations had been scheduled to start out today on a three-day tour of some of the United States' technical military centers.

However, this program was rearranged. Instead of heading today for the air force research center at Wright-Patterson base, Ohio, the trip was put over until Friday.

A spokesman hastily told reporters that this did not necessarily signify that the defense committee thought it would need three more days to complete its work. Instead, he thought it possible the visiting officials might go ahead with a scheduled trip to the army proving ground at Aberdeen, Md., tomorrow and to the naval proving grounds at Dahlgren, Va., on Thursday.

A secrecy that surpasses even the military security on a wartime combat operation has been thrown around the meetings of the defense committee. At the end of the first meeting on Saturday a short, unrevealing communiqué was issued.

Hints of Progress Made

British Defense Minister Emmanuel Shinwell gave a talk at the National Press club yesterday. He prefaced his reading of a prepared address by explaining that:

"For reasons of—shall I say accuracy—it has been thought advisable by my advisers that I should confine myself to notes." This indication of Shinwell that he was under some degree of restraint followed a statement by U.S. Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall last Saturday that he and his government believed the citizens of the North Atlantic nations were entitled to full information on what was done.

Thus, the question of who had demanded the close secrecy was left open.

Shinwell, during his speech and in answering a few questions afterward, did say that "solid progress" had been made in creating a security force. But he did not expand on that comment.

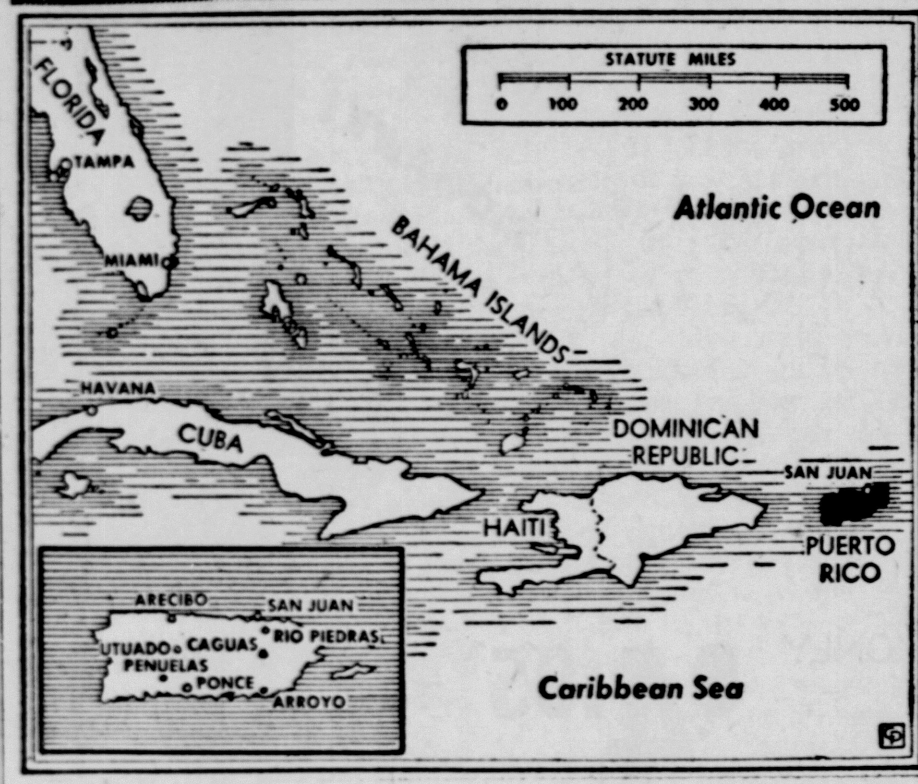

And when he was asked if he thought the German rearmament problem would be settled to the satisfaction of the Atlantic pact nations, his answer was indefinite: "I hope so."

Halloween Parade Set For Tonight

East State st. will be a galaxy of color starting at 7 tonight, with hundreds of strangely-dressed paraders and spectators enjoying the annual mummies' parade.

The American Legion and Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring the Halloween event. Commander William Needham, parade marshal, said that the parade will begin at 7 on S. Broadway, march to E. State, east to S. Lincoln, south to E. Pershing and east to Reilly stadium for the second half of the evening's events.

Howard Pardee and George Chappell, Salem High school and American Legion Quaker City band directors, today said their musical organizations will discard familiar uniforms for the parade and don weird garb in keeping with the Halloween festivities.

NATIONALIST revolt in Puerto Rico is reported "under control," with Pedro Albizu Campos (left), Harvard-educated rebel leader, rumored among the 19 persons reported killed in the fighting. Penuelas, in southern Puerto Rico, is believed to be the nerve-center of the separatist revolt which flared in San Juan, Utuado, Arecibo, Ponce and Artoya (all shown on map). Police repulsed an hour-long attack in San Juan on the palace of Luis Munoz Marin (right), the island's first popularly-elected governor, who was unharmed. The governor linked the revolt with the mass prison break of 107 convicts from Rio Piedras penitentiary. Sixty of the escapees remain at large.

Rebel Nationalists In Puerto Rico Under Fire

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 31—(AP)—National Guard planes and infantry launched a combined strafing and ground attack today on two towns held by U. S.-hating Nationalists who yesterday launched a revolt in 10 Puerto Rican centers.

Late reports raised the toll of the rebellion — worst in the island's history — to 28 dead and 22 wounded.

Government forces opened fire from the skies and land on Jayuya, 50 miles southwest of San Juan, and Utuado, six miles north-west of Jayuya. Officers estimated 600 Nationalists were holding the two points.

Troops Well Armed

Eight fighter planes strafed the two towns before the ground attack. The land forces were armed with machineguns, bazookas and tanks.

Officials said communications had been broken with both towns but a last radio message received from Utuado said a guard and police detachment was besieged in the police station there.

The rebel forces in Jayuya reportedly were led by Juan Antonio Corretjer, principal aide of Harvard-educated Pedro Albizu Campos, the Nationalist party chief.

At Ponce, where violence yesterday gave the signal for the revolt, six Nationalists were arrested and each was charged with murdering two policemen. District Attorney Antonio Garcia said a captured Nationalist confessed a full-scale revolt was scheduled for the eve of the Nov. 4 registration for a vote on the new constitution, which the Nationalists oppose.

Fear Red Support

National Guard officers estimated that the strength of those operating under Nationalist leadership was from 1,500 to 2,000 armed men. They added that the Communists could be expected to grab any opportunity to keep things boiling on this island now.

Governor Luis Munoz Marin, target of one attack on the governor's palace in San Juan yesterday, said the rebellion was a "conspiracy against democracy helped by the Communists."

Guard officers described the situation in Jayuya and Utuado as tense. Two companies of armed militia have been rushed to Jayuya, a town of 1,800 which has virtually been burned to the ground by the attacking rebels.

Food Prices To Soar Even Higher In '51

Agriculture Dept. Foresees New Hikes Coming Next Spring

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—Higher food prices—maybe the highest ever—are in prospect for next year, the Agriculture Department said today.

The department predicted that food prices, which have risen through most of 1950 with a fairly sharp upturn after the outbreak of war in Korea, probably will not go up much more before late winter.

But in a report on the national food situation the department foresaw "reinforced pressure" on prices in the spring and declared: "Accelerated consumer demand for food, unless checked by anti-inflationary measures or other developments, could push food prices by mid-year up to and even above the record level of the summer of 1948."

Supplies Larger

While food supplies somewhat larger than this year's are expected, the department said the increase likely will be insufficient to keep pace with greater consumer demand for food.

The department, which has said consistently that it sees no need at present for price controls on farm commodities, acknowledged that prices may rise to the point where controls "could be established" under the law on meats and food fats and oils, possibly with the exception of butter.

The economic controls law passed by Congress after the outbreak of the war in Korea prohibits price ceilings on farm commodities unless prices go above the level of May 25-June 25, 1950, or parity, whichever is higher. Parity is a computed price declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay for what they buy. As the price of things the farmer buys goes up so does parity.

While there was still no indication that price controls on farm products or other items are in prospect anytime soon, officials were expected to urge that Congress broaden present rent control authority.

Housing expediter Tighe E. Woods, who administers the rent control law, returned to Washington yesterday after a series of conferences with local rent advisory boards across the country. Aides reported he will ask that Congress:

Estimate Action

1. Eliminate a requirement of the present law that local communities take positive action if they want federal controls continued beyond Dec. 31.

2. Give him authority to reimpose controls over any area or any general class of housing if he finds defense needs warrant it.

Rent control is one of the items President Truman mentioned as needing action by Congress on its return to Washington. Except in those areas which take affirmative action to continue controls until next June 30, all federal rent ceilings are scheduled to die at the end of the year. Without elaborating, Democratic senate leader Lucas of Illinois told a city club of Chicago audience yesterday "we're going to put through another rent control bill."

Roy Blough, one of Mr. Truman's economic advisers, hinted yesterday that price controls may have to be imposed to whip a threat of inflation. He said in a speech that nearly all anti-inflationary weapons may be needed. In World War II these weapons included price controls, wage controls and rationing.

Mahoning Scholarship Committee Head Chosen

Edward A. Saltsman, superintendent of Mahoning county schools, has been appointed scholarship committee chairman for 1950 for Mahoning county, Youngstown, Campbell, Struthers and Sebring, by State Director of Education Clyde Hissong.

Saltsman has named as his assistants, Robert Fleming, principal of South High School, Youngstown, Olin J. Gabriel, superintendent of Struthers, Leon S. Force, superintendent of Sebring and I. J. Nisonger, superintendent of Boardman.

Last Month Cooler Than October, 1949

Although it may have seemed unseasonably warm during October it was actually a colder month than October of 1949, according to L. H. Copeland of Millport, U. S. cooperative weather observer in this district.

Last month the average temperature was 54.2, which was above the 58-year average of 51.4 degrees. In 1949, the average temperature was 56.2 for October. The alltime high was in 1947, when the tenth month averaged 57.4.

The high mercury reading last month was 82 on the 2nd and the low was 25 degrees on the 26th. Precipitation was a low 1.82 inches in October, well under the average of 2.52. A year ago, however, only 1.02 inches of rain fell. The wettest October on record was in 1926, with 5.63 inches. October, 1924, was the driest, with a bare sprinkle of 0.08 inch.

There were 14 clear days last month, seven cloudy and nine partly cloudy. Sunshine was 60 percent, compared to the norm of 50 percent.

The year is now ahead 7.25 inches in precipitation, Copeland says, and short 1132 degrees in temperature.

"We seldom have snow in October," the weather observer adds, "but in 1924 we had 6.5 inches—an all time record."

Wheat fields are in good condition for winter, he says, but very little corn is in the cribs due to poor drying conditions and late planting.

The moisture situation is good. The first killing frost was later than usual, coming on the 26th. Normally the first frost is around Oct. 4.

"According to the law of averages," Copeland predicts, "November should have above normal temperature and normal rainfall."

Local Defense Directors Chosen

Five Men Selected To Head Divisions

Five new directors were selected by Mayor Harry M. Vincent and Loren D. Early, director of civil defense, to head various divisions of the local unit of the Ohio Civilian Defense Organization.

The new supervisors and their tasks are: Director of training and operations, John Hochadel; director of personnel, C. F. Paumier; director of information, Curtis Vaughan; director of supply, Albert Morris; and director of health, Harold Zeally.

Another branch of defense was formed directly under the Air Force. This group, the Ohio Ground Observer Corps, has the job of detecting planes which might be flying over the area and of passing the word along to other cities. Heading the ground observers are Balford Dixon, supervisor, and John King, chief observer.

Mr. Early also appointed Dean Phillips to act as coordinator between the ground observers and the civilian defense's air-raid warning system. The system was formed to notify the specific locality in which there is a chance of air attack.

Many of the local organizations' members will attend the executive session on civilian defense from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Wednesday in Canton. The purpose of the meeting is to gain explanation from state and national leaders on the method of organization and the holding of future meetings.

After the conference it is expected that a more complete local unit will be formed.

Army Rescues Navy

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—The Navy, which usually does the rescuing at sea, got rescued itself today—by the Army.

Stranded in New York harbor with engine trouble was a navy launch from the destroyer Ludlow. A passing army ferryboat tied on to the helpless craft and towed it back to the destroyer.

Said a First Army spokesman: "The Navy was a bit red-faced."

COUNTY MEN PAROLED

Three men from Columbiana county today received paroles from the London Prison farm effective Dec. 6. They are: Wells Conkle, burglary and larceny; Roland Bennett, burglary and larceny; Thomas Burton, larceny.

U. S. 24th GI's Rush Support

SEOUL, Oct. 31—(AP)—Allied forces fought today against time and mounting Red resistance. A powerful United Nations army of 100,000 men stretched across the spiny North Korean peninsula in forward areas, driving to end the war before winter's harsh blasts freeze the campaign into another year.

An armored column of the U. S. 24th Infantry division scored the only impressive gain in a day marked by bitter fighting on the arching, 250-mile northern peninsula front below the Communist Manchurian border.

Chinese Communists were helping the North Koreans; how many no high Allied official would say. A captured Red Korean officer said two Chinese divisions were attacking in northeast Korea. In Tokyo, an intelligence officer at General MacArthur's headquarters confirmed the capture of ten Chinese Reds in North Korea but said the presence of organized Chinese units had not been established definitely.

He said headquarters is awaiting a positive statement from high Allied field commands. The officer acknowledged that the Korean Reds are getting help from somewhere, but added that it might be from North Korean "ghost" units held in reserve during the fall of Pyongyang, the Red capital.

Still Getting Supplies

"The continued appearance of tanks in these dwindling forces indicates the enemy still is getting these supplies from across the Manchurian border," he said.

It had been believed generally that if Red China had intended to intervene in the Korean war it would have done so in September, when Allied forces still were south of parallel 38 dividing the peninsula.

(Unconfirmed reports to Formosa, Chinese Nationalist island stronghold, said the Chinese Red 118th and 119th divisions of Red Gen. Lin Piao's fourth army corps were fighting in Korea. Nationalist officials said the reports probably were true.)

AP Correspondent Ben Price reported that Chinese prisoners taken northwest of Hamhung told him they were rushed into battle a week ago — without rifles, but each with two hand grenades.

The prisoners said they were former Nationalists who were put to farming by the Chinese Communists, and then rushed into the army and sent to defend North Korea against "American imperialists."

The U. S. 24th division column skirted the British commonwealth 27th brigade and raced northwest from Chongju through Sonchon to a point 33 road miles south of the border.

The Americans are driving toward Sinuiju, in extreme northwest Korea and across the Yalu river boundary from Antung, Manchuria. They captured Sonchon easily at noon Tuesday and pushed six miles beyond.

Sonchon is 17 miles northwest of Chongju, a rail and highway hub captured earlier in the day by the British commonwealth brigade after fierce street fighting.

Close fighter plane support was given both forces.

On the Britishers' right flank, to the northeast, the 24th division's Fifth regiment captured Kusong, 34 air miles south of the Yalu. After a two-day battle the doughboys entered the town in the wake of a bombing by six B-26s.

The regiment had been forced to dig in two miles outside the city Monday. Kusong is one of the main gateways to the border. On the Fifth regiment's right flank, the U. S. First Cavalry division rushed tanks and artillery to salvage what was left of the Republic of Korea (ROK) Sixth division south of Onjong.

Most of the ROK Sixth and the badly-mauled ROK Eighth divisions were reported trying to regroup at Kujang, 18 miles east of Onjong and at Tokchon, 30 miles to the southeast.

The ROK Sixth division's Seventh regiment, which pushed all the way to the Manchurian border last week north of Onjong, was reported trying to make its way across mountains to rejoin ROK forces south of Onjong. It has been cut off several days.

Field dispatches and General MacArthur's war summary indicated the Reds had thrown scores of tanks and heavy guns into the fighting in all sectors.

MAJ. GEN. David G. Barr commands the U. S. 7th Infantry Division which is pushing northward on the coast of North Korea after landing at Iwon.

Highway Expansion In County Discussed

LISBON, Oct. 31—The proposed expansion of the Columbiana county highway system was discussed Monday evening at a meeting of county officials and the county Trustees and Clerks Association in the courthouse here.

No action was taken, but the group was almost unanimous in believing that the county highway system should be increased, absorbing certain mileage from each township into the county system.

At present, there are 130 miles in the county and 860 in the township road systems.

County Engineer Charles Snyder stated that the county has aided townships in improvement of considerable roads. He added that 157 miles of township roads have been black-topped with the help of the county highway department in the last 10 years.

Snyder also said that the people seem to think that if the county would take over more of the highway mileage, the townships would be more able to take care of the remaining roads.

Louis Sanford of East Liverpool presided at the meeting at which 140 persons were present.

Controls May Last Long Time, Warning

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—Economic Stabilizer Alan Valentine said today home front controls may last far longer this time than the four-year sacrifices of World War II.

In an address prepared for the Women's National Press Club, Valentine cautioned against "false optimism" as a result of victories in Korea.

Attention Focused On 32 Governor Contests Nov. 7

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—The presidential hopes of many men for 1952 and later years will be riding with the ballots in next Tuesday's election of 32 governors.

Gubernatorial contests always have some presidential tinge. Traditionally, they are proving grounds from which emerge future presidents—and leaders with powerful voices in naming presidential nominees.

And aside from the rise and fall of individual political stars, a political party's capture of a state government is regarded as improving its chances to carry the state in the next presidential election.

Of the 32 contests for governor to be settled Nov. 7, no fewer than 10 have captured especial national interest.

Tops, perhaps, are those in New York and California.

In New York, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who carried the Republican presidential banner in 1948 and 1952, faces a hard fight in his quest for a third term as governor. His Democratic challenger is Rep. Walter A. Lynch.

Challenges Gov. Warren

In California, Gov. Earl Warren, Dewey's 1948 national running mate, seeks reelection over the challenge of James Roosevelt. There you have the political big name veteran fighting for survival against the threat of a son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a young man who hopes his star is only on the rise in Democratic skies.

Connecticut's Gov. Chester Bowler, a Democrat, is also tangling with a young hopeful with a tion by Arthur W. Coolidge (R), cousin of the late president Calvin Coolidge.

Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., of Maryland (D) is fighting it out with Theodore R. McKeldin (R), former mayor of Baltimore.

Wisconsin's gubernatorial fight, another of the major ones, pits Walter J. Kohler (R), son of a former governor, against Carl W. Thompson, Democratic national committeeman.

The nation now has 29 Democratic and 19 Republican governors, including Gov. Frederick G. Payne (R) reelected in Maine last Sept. 11.

The 32 governorships at stake in November are held by 17 Democrats and 15 Republicans. Whichever party scores the greater gain is certain to hail the result as indicative of public support or antagonism to the national administration's domestic policies. They always have.

Dems Gained In 1948

The Democrats scored a net gain of six governors in 1948, when they took over from Republican executives in Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana and Ohio, while losing two Democratic gubernatorial seats in Utah and Washington to the GOP. In all, 19 governors seek reelection, 11 of them Democrats and eight Republicans.

In three southern states, the Republicans put up no candidate against the Democratic nominee. They are offering no opposition to Gov. Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia, Gov. Gordon Browning of Tennessee, or James F. Byrnes for governor of South Carolina.

Byrnes, a former secretary of state in the cabinet of President Truman, didn't need a rival to catch a lot of limelight. He has split with Mr. Truman, charging there is a drift in government toward what he calls "statism," a word the Republicans promptly adopted as campaign ammunition against the Democrats.

Four governors seek election to the senate, Frank Carlson (R-Kan.); Earl C. Clements (D-Ky.); James H. Duff (R-Pa.); and John O. Pastore (D-R.I.). Gov. Fred G. Aandahl (R-ND) seeks election as a representative in Congress.

Four house members are candidates for governor, Reps. Lynch (NY), Lodge (Conn.), John L. Miles (D-NM) and Frank A. Barrett (R-Wyo.).

The 32 governors will be picked from 84 aspirants, 32 of them Democrats, 29 Republicans and 23 others.

Accused Murderer Deeds Farm To Widow

MEDINA, Oct. 31—(AP)—Max Amerman today gave the widow of the man he is accused of slaying an 85-acre farm valued at about $20,000. He said he wanted to "do what I could to right the wrong."

A deed transferring the farm, which includes a seven-room frame house, barn and other buildings, was filed in the county recorder's office.

Henry Larabee, attorney for the 27-year-old Amerman in the property transfer, said his client decided last week to sign over his farm to Mrs. Randi Mast, 24, and her three-year-old daughter, Elsie.

Mrs. Mast is the widow of Harold E. Mast, 23, who was shot to death from ambush on the night of Oct. 5 at the farm, which Amerman had rented to the Masts.

Amerman and Jerry Killinger, 17, are under indictment for first degree murder in the slaying.

Export Control Is Tightened

Government Acts To Curb Shipments

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—Senator O'Connor (D-Md) said today that precautions taken by the government "should result in tightened controls all along the line" to prevent strategic materials from reaching China and other Communist areas.

O'Connor is chairman of a senate commerce subcommittee which received testimony yesterday that within the last year more than 3,500,000 pounds of copper and more than 12,000 steel boiler tubes were shipped to Red China from occupied Japan and Germany.

The copper made a round-the-world trip from Japan to China, passing through New York en route. Some of the boiler tubes, too, were shipped to China by way of New York.

O'Connor went into a private conference with defense and commerce department officials after the public hearing and later announced he had received assurances of cooperation in checking off such shipments to Communist-controlled nations.

O'Connor told newsmen he believed the investigation has shown "how resourceful Communist importers are in getting the products they want." But he added that "now, with our responsible officials thoroughly on guard against such procedures, it is reasonable to expect that few, if any, strategic items, will get through to Communist controlled areas."

Plans for Sunday call for a huge parade through the downtown streets of Ashtabula shortly after noon. Many of the wives of the local Eagles plan to witness the event.

Following the parade, a mass initiation of all the candidates in the zone will be held at the host hall, with the best degree team in the entire zone exemplifying the ritual. The candidates will be entertained by a crack drill team.

State and grand aerie officers will speak during the convention.

Boettiger Killed In Leap From Hotel

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—John Boettiger, 50, former son-in-law of President Roosevelt, plunged to his death this morning from the seventh floor of an exclusive Manhattan hotel.

Police said he had been in a depressed state of mind for several days and was under the care of a male nurse.

They said he awakened this morning, asked to have the window opened wide, and then hurled himself out. His body struck the sidewalk below and he was killed instantly.

Boettiger, a lifelong newspaperman, was the divorced husband of the late president's only daughter, the former Anna Roosevelt

Street Noise Cut

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 31—(AP)—One of the big city's street noises may be partially stilled thanks to a new machine.

The Joy Manufacturing Company announced yesterday it has developed a pavement cutting machine which makes relatively little din as it slices through concrete and bricks.

Joy officials said the machine will be a boon to city dwellers who have trouble sleeping because of the rat-a-tat-tat of pneumatic hammers used by street repair crews.

The Judicial Ballot

THERE are four places on the Ohio Supreme Court to be filled in the 1950 election—three of them by making a choice between opposing candidates, the fourth by the write-in method. Since the fourth place decision is the most likely to puzzle voters, the method of making it properly is illustrated herewith:

Mr. Middleton is a Toledo attorney who has been endorsed by the Republican state central committee on the basis of the respect he has earned from the legal profession in Ohio. The campaign which his friends have conducted in his behalf apparently assures him of election to the vacancy created on the Supreme Court by the death of Judge Edward C. Turner. Judge Turner's term would have expired Dec. 31, 1954.

For chief justice of the Supreme Court, most Ohioans will want to vote for Carl V. Weygant. He has headed the court since 1933 and has been eminently satisfactory in that important position.

The choice between Edward S. Matthias and Charles H. Hubbell for a judgeship should be made automatically for Judge Matthias. He has been a member of the court since 1915. His opponent is a perennial office-seeker who hopes the lightning may strike him some day.

The other contest is between William L. Hart and James Metzger. Judge Hart has won the respect of the legal profession by a keen mind and a judicial temperament which continue to improve with the years. He is entitled to finish out his judicial career on the Supreme Court.

The Secrecy Of The Ballot

IT IS unfortunate that so many Americans have lost track of such simple safeguards of liberty as the secrecy of the ballot.

A century ago there was no such thing as a secret ballot in the United States. Among the many balloting methods in use, none protected the individual voter's privacy. There was widespread resentment.

The American electorate was as poorly protected in this respect as voters are today in the Soviet Union, for example. The whole principle of representative democracy was in danger.

During the second half of the 19th century, laws to protect voters were passed in all the states. By the beginning of the present century the secret ballot form now in use, copied from the Australian ballot, had become almost universal. Since then, election codes increasingly have provided protection to individual voters.

The present law in Ohio unconditionally guarantees secrecy. There is no way for anyone to find out how a voter marked his ballot—not even an illegal way. Yet, because this is not universally known, ignorance has made it possible to plant the suspicion that the ballot is not fool-proof.

Those who have been planting that suspicion in the hope of scaring others out of their right to make up their own minds owe an apology on two counts.

They have betrayed the ideals of America. They have told a deliberate lie.

Not The Idea

GEN. EISENHOWER and Gen. MacArthur may be the two best qualified men to take charge of the cooperative security of the free nations. But the unanimous choice of Gen. Eisenhower to set up the defenses of Western Europe under the Atlantic pact while Gen. MacArthur remains in command of the United Nations forces in Asia raises a question of propriety.

It was not the idea of cooperative security which evolved after World War II to put the burden on the United States. Certainly it was not the idea to let collective responsibility for security come to rest so heavily on this country that America would furnish not only the bulk of the materials but the bulk of the manpower and the military leadership, too.

The danger in this is not that of putting too great a burden on the United States. Equally dangerous is the impression that the United States is running a kind of protectorate over other sovereignties which it is trying to rehabilitate. Their sense of dependency is not healthy for them, and it is not healthy for the United States to believe they are dependent on it.

Gen. Eisenhower may be the one man who can organize the military security of the Atlantic world. If so, he should tackle the job with an immediate view to the development of a qualified successor, preferably a European.

Targets of G.O.P.

By PETER EDSON

These Are Republicans' Campaign Arguments.

TAKE IT or leave it—this is a composite of the arguments which Republican spellbinders are dishing out to the voters in the somewhat lethargic political campaign now drawing to a close.

The Truman administration has been marked by ineptness, incompetence and unwillingness to provide adequate national defense and security either at home or abroad.

The position of the United States today is described as far worse than it was five years ago, when President Truman took over.

In foreign affairs, the administration, by its various policy announcements, encouraged the Russians to think that they could take over in all of Asia, unopposed.

China was allowed to go down the Communist drain. Formosa and Korea were as good as written off in advance. It took a Red attack in Korea to wake up the administration to the realization that it was on the wrong track and backing the wrong horse.

For taking up arms in Korea, the Republican candidates in general do not seem to be too critical. But in the conduct of that war they find plenty of fault. They say it could have been prevented.

There is criticism that the South Koreans were not better armed for their own defense. There is criticism of statements by military and diplomatic spokesmen that South Korea was safe, thus lulling the country into false security.

There is criticism of the report that the Russians attacked anywhere at 4 a. m., the United States would be ready to reply at 5. And there is criticism of the assurance that the United States was better prepared than at any time since the end of World War II.

WHEN THE shooting in Korea began, U. S. divisions available in Japan were found to be not at full strength, inadequately trained and inadequately armed. The preliminary inability to stop Russian-made tanks and armor is taken as an example of American unpreparedness.

While voting to support the war with men and money, and while reluctantly backing Marshall Plan and foreign military aid, the Republicans nonetheless declare it shifted Democratic policy from promotion of the "welfare state"—which was the old GOP criticism of the Truman program. In its place, GOP Chairman Guy George Gabrielson charges the Democrats began to promote "the warfare state." This warfare state is characterized in Republican campaign material as the imposition of high taxes, the attempted re-imposition of controls and the return of inflation. What these are said to add up to are a return to the conditions prevailing at the end of the war. On this thesis, the Republicans attempt to build up their argument that the country is now worse off than it was five years ago.

Back of this main line of argument, there are three other related arguments which the Republicans throw against the Democratic administration.

THE FIRST is corruption. As far as Washington itself is concerned, this is centered on the "five percent" disclosures of last year. Nationally, the charges refer to such things as the Pendergast machine corruption and gangster connections in Kansas City, the current police administration scandals in New York, the dirty charges growing out of the Cook county, Ill., sheriff's race and the alleged forcible seizure of Democratic power in Detroit by CIO-PAC and Americans for Democratic action forces.

The second is the charge of condonance of Communists in government service. This reshapes the Carl Aldo Marzani, Harry Dexter White, Alger Hiss and similar cases. Secretary of State Dean Acheson's defense of Alger Hiss is still brought up. In fact, Secretary Acheson is more of a personal target than even President Truman in many Republican campaign speeches. The whole McCarthy book is thrown at the Democrats, without reservation.

The third Republican charge is that while Communists have infiltrated the Democratic administration, there is still greater danger in the socialist tendencies of the Truman program. These are seen in the Brannan farm plan, compulsory health insurance, the various TVA-style valley plans, repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, and so on.

It is the Republican contention that election of GOP majorities to both the House and Senate on Nov. 1 would keep the Truman administration under control, even though it does have two years more of power over the executive departments of government.

NEXT: A summary of the Democratic campaign arguments.

A-Bomb Survival

By ED CREAGH

THE government has come up with its answers to such atomic era questions as:

What should you wear if there's danger of an A-bomb attack?

What should you do about radioactive dust in your clothes?

How soon after an A-attack is it safe to let the cat out?

The government's answers to these and a host of other questions appear in its long-promised booklet, "Survival Under Atomic Attack."

It's the first official publication to tell the public in plain English just what to do if the big bomb does fall. It costs a dime and you can get it from the Superintendent of Public Documents, Washington, 25, D. C. A more technical discussion was issued by the Atomic Energy Commission last August.

The National Security Resources Board, which put out the 32-page booklet this past weekend, plans to distribute millions of copies through local civil defense organizations. The goal: A copy in every American home.

Unless you're right under an exploding bomb, the booklet says, you can survive—if you keep your head. But you should know these "six survival secrets":

1—Try to get shielded—in a basement or subway if you can, in a ditch or gutter if you have to.

2—Drop flat on the ground or floor.

3—Bury your face in your arms.

4—Don't rush outside right after a bombing.

5—Don't take chances with food or water in open containers. A canopener is one of the handiest things to have around.

6—Don't start rumors. One false one may start a panic that will cost you your life.

Beyond these "survival secrets," the new A-bomb defense manual gives a pretty complete course in atomic age living. "Starting right now," it says, "you should go in for 'fireproof housekeeping.' Don't let trash pile up around your house, and always keep it in covered containers."

ways wear a hat—the brim may save you from a serious face burn.

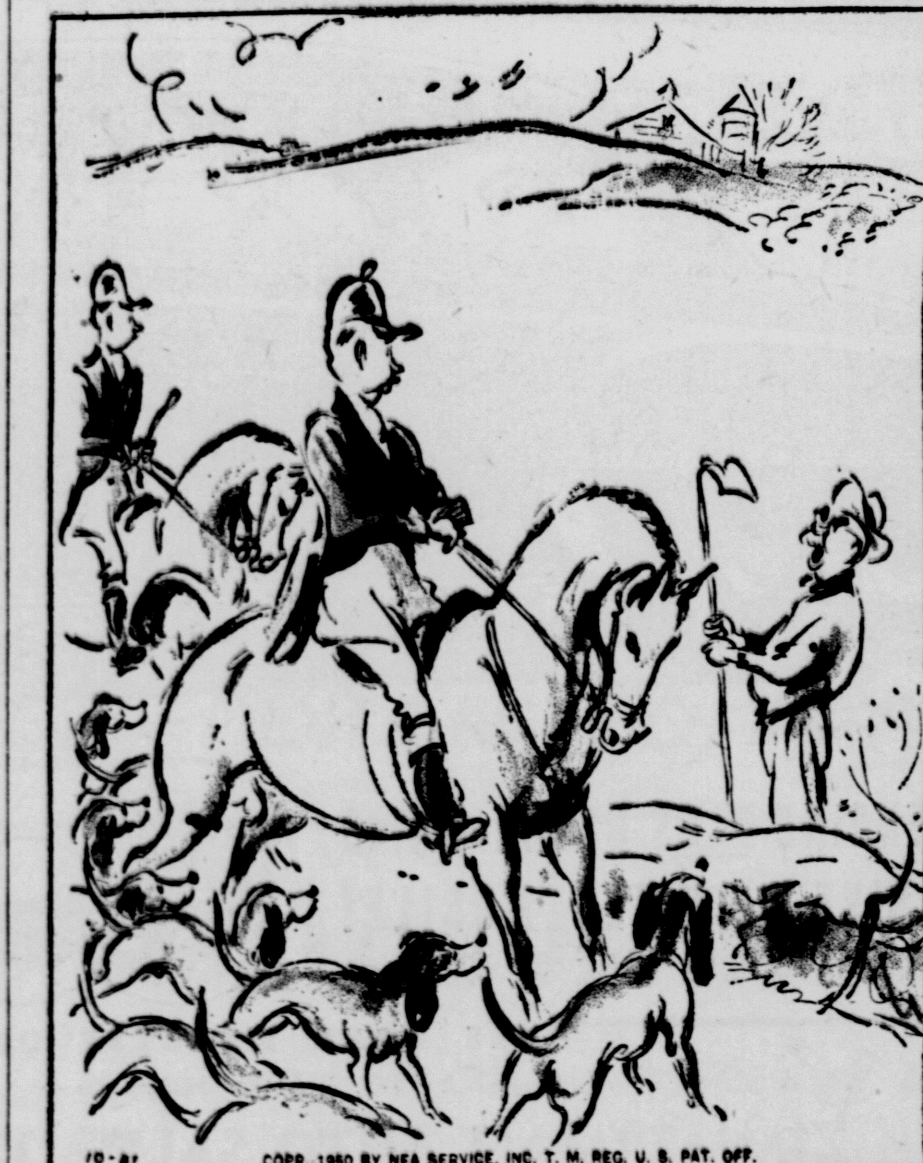

If you have walked through rubble from a ground burst or water from an underwater burst, be sure to change at least your outer garments and shoes. If the clothing is heavily contaminated by radiation, bury it. You should also manage to take a bath or shower.

Unless you are careful, some radioactivity is likely to be tracked in by pets. Keep your cat or dog indoors. Usually, radioactivity lasts only a minute or so, though it can linger for minutes or even weeks.

But the booklet says the danger from atomic radiation has been exaggerated—the big danger is from blast and burns. Even if you should get radiation sickness, there's a good chance you will recover. In short:

If you follow the pointers in this little booklet, you stand far better than even chance of survival.

Are You, Too, Small Spuds in your Nation's Life?

Future Of The Democratic Party

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON
MORE significant than any other factor arising out of the congressional elections on November 7 will be the effect on the future of the Democratic party.

Will the Democratic party, as it has been known for decades, become in everything except name the party of a labor-union machine? Through virtually complete control of billions of dollars of union dues a few labor-union leaders could take over the Democratic party lock, stock and barrel and dictate who shall be its candidates hereafter.

This could not possibly happen if independent votes are cast by lifelong Democrats who cherish the memory of a great party founded by Jefferson and strengthened by Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt.

It could not happen if the independent Democrats differentiate between truly capable candidates and those who merely have the endorsement of a labor-union clique.

If the labor-union bosses have their way and a majority of their candidates are elected this time to either the house or the senate, the real Democratic party will develop a cleavage such as it never has experienced since Civil War days. Many of the independent Democrats do not want to see in Washington a labor-union government dominated by the "left wing" as is the case with Great Britain today. They do not want to see a reactionary regime established which under the guise of so-called liberalism can effectuate a result hostile to smaller enterprises and individual freedom inside labor unions. But the independent Democrats will be powerless after November 7 if the party machinery passes into new hands.

THE ISSUE OF bossism, hitherto confined to city machines, now becomes pertinent as the labor unions reveal that their political organizations are designed to control the votes of the rank and file in political elections.

Health To You

Diet Should Contain Protein

STARCHES, or carbohydrates, fats and proteins are the three main foods. The proteins differ from the fats and the starches in that they contain nitrogen in varying amounts. Nitrogen is necessary for life.

Although nitrogen makes up about three-fourth of the air we breathe, this nitrogen is merely breathed in and out with the air and is not used by the body. It must be obtained from food that contains protein. Some kinds of proteins are extremely complex. They are made up of varying numbers and combinations of the 22 known amino acids which are sometimes called the building blocks of proteins.

An insufficient protein diet over a long period of time leads to improper distribution of water in the body. This may cause the development of dropsy, or edema, in which water accumulates in the body tissue. A wasting of tissue can also occur. There may be a decline in the ability of the body to produce heat.

Protein deficiency may follow some illness which does not allow the food to pass to the digestive tract and be absorbed there. Loss of appetite is a common sign of insufficient protein in the food. However, this loss of appetite may be due to some mental causes.

In most illnesses in which fever occurs an excessive breakdown of the body protein takes place. The production of hemoglobin, which is the coloring matter of the blood, depends largely on the amount and quality of the protein in the diet. Thus, anemia is another sign which develops either when there is insufficient protein in the diet or when it is poorly absorbed by the body.

The best sources of protein for the human body are the animal proteins such as meat, eggs, fish and cheese. These are usually considered of greater value than the proteins of plant origin which are contained in cereals, nuts and certain vegetables. Cost has to be considered. Animal proteins are obtained only by feeding large quantities of plants to the animals and consequently the cost of animal proteins is high.

For this reason, many people have to subsist largely on proteins of plant rather than of animal origin. Nevertheless, for those who can afford it, a reasonable quantity of dairy products, fish, and meat is desirable in order to maintain the proper intake of protein foods which are so necessary for the human body.

Mail Train

BY LARRY ALLEN

(For Hal Boyle)

Reds Attack Malay Trains

SINGAPORE

IF YOU'RE looking for a thrill, try riding the mail train from Singapore to Kuala Lumpur, capital city of the federation of Malay.

Likely as not you will be blown out of your berth, injured, even killed on the 250-mile stretch northward.

Communist terrorists, you see, delight in taking cracks at the mail trains.

Here's a typical government press announcement—and such come very often:

"Last night, in Johore, the Kuala Lumpur to Singapore day mail train was derailed by an explosion caused by bandits. The engine capsized and three coaches were derailed. The driver of the engine was killed and two firemen were slightly injured."

"Early this morning, in Negri Sembilan, the pilot train of the Kuala Lumpur to Singapore night mail train was derailed by bandits. The driver of the engine was slightly injured."

EVEN SO, there doesn't seem to be a shortage of Malay engine drivers or firemen. As fast as they're killed or injured, others step in to take their places.

British soldiers and police guard the trains, but that doesn't seem to put an end to the planting of mines or other explosives on tracks, or otherwise derailling trains.

Communist terrorists in the dense jungle bordering the railroad frequently fire on the slowly moving trains.

To prevent destruction of the main mail trains, and loss of life or injury to crews and passengers, a pilot train usually makes the first run.

Frequently, the pilot train takes the brunt of terrorist activities, but not always. It seems the Communists have caught onto this trick, and so bide their time to plant or touch off explosives to get the main mail train after a pilot engine has passed.

Communists ripping up rails often force postponement of train schedules. But as soon as railway authorities can get things back in shape, the mail trains move off from Singapore for another try at getting safely through to Kuala Lumpur.

Toll Highways Here to Stay

THE other day Pennsylvania dedicated a 100-mile eastern extension of its famous turnpike which slices through the backbone of the Appalachian highlands. By next fall another 67-mile stretch westward beyond Pittsburgh to the Ohio line will be ready. Then a motorist can go from Philadelphia to the western border without encountering a single crossing or red light.

In November, 1951, New Jersey will have a turnpike running from New York southward across the state to the Delaware border below Wilmington. Ohio has one in the works, too, which is planned for use by about 1955. The eastern seaboard is strung with parkways—with some notable gaps—from Maine to Washington, D. C.

Most of these roads are toll highways. They cost money to ride on. But they pay it back in the gasoline and driving time saved. And they carry a vast burden of traffic which could not possibly be accommodated with such ease on the regular traffic networks of the various states.

For a long time the federal Bureau of Public Roads has been against toll roads as a wasteful, duplicating expense which actually handicaps the proper development of the nation's regular road system. Pennsylvania's experience with its turnpike, a profitable enterprise which permits regular highway funds to be employed on other roads, proves this argument fallacious.

The best test of the sense of the turnpike idea is the swiftness with which other states are adopting it.

CRANBERRY-APPLE PIE

1½ cups cranberries, ground
2½ cups chopped pared apples
2 T. quick-cooking tapioca
1½ cups sugar
¾ t. salt
1 T. butter

Combine fruit, tapioca, sugar and salt; let stand 15 minutes, or while pastry is being made.

Line a 9-inch pie pan with ½ of the pastry rolled ⅛-inch thick, fold in half and cut several 2-inch slits near the fold. Fill pie shell with fruit mixture and dot with butter. Moistened edge of bottom crust with cold water. Adjust top crust on pie, opening slits with a knife to permit escape of steam.

Trim off excess pastry, allowing it to extend ½-inch over rim. Fold excess under the bottom crust and flute rim with fingers. Bake in hot oven (425 F.) 50 to 55 minutes or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst.

the RECORD speaks...

For 12 Long Years Robert Alphonso Taft Has MISrepresented the People of Ohio in the United States Senate. That Record Is the Most Damning In United States History. And Now He Pleads for Your Votes.

But Here's His Record—He MADE It and He MUST STAND On It—No One Can Change It!

(All Taken From the Congressional Record)

—1950—

Taft voted against economic aid to Korea (May 25, 1950), revealing his lack of knowledge concerning the state of world affairs, and his indifference to this nation's welfare.

A few weeks ago Taft bitterly opposed the appointment of one of America's greatest citizens, General George W. Marshall, as Secretary of Defense.

Also in 1950 Taft opposed extending Rent Control, strong unemployment compensation law, increasing Marshall Plan funds, Point Four program for underdeveloped nations, and allowing Presidential discretion in price-wage controls.

—1949—

Although barns were bursting and there was no storage for crops, Taft voted against additional crop storage facilities (May 20, 1949) and placed our food supplies in danger of spoilage.

Taft voted against including 250,000 retail store clerks in the Wage Hour Act (Aug. 30, 1949) which precludes these grossly underpaid workers from enjoying national minimum wage rates.

In 1949 Taft also opposed the Atlantic Pact, public housing, anti-injunction amendment, public power, Taft-Hartley repeal, TVA steam plant, and military aid to Korea (Sept. 22, 1949)

—1948—

Although the government required additional funds and the lower income groups were taxed to the limit, Taft voted against higher taxes on profits (March 19, 1948).

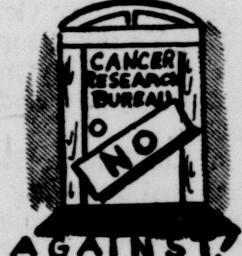

All America depends upon productivity of the land, yet on May 21, 1948, Taft voted against a soil conservation bill which would have provided funds to revitalize depleted soil.

In 1948 Taft also opposed guarantees for home loans, applying the anti-trust laws to railroad rate-fixing, and placing the U. S. Employment Service under the Labor Department where it belongs.

—1947—

Although the dread disease of cancer has killed millions of our people, and endless research is necessary to curtail this national menace, Taft voted against increasing funds for the National Cancer Institute on May 5, 1947.

Taft said he did not believe in giving special "gifts" to particular groups and, on July 19, 1947, he voted against special housing allowances for paralyzed war veterans.

Also in 1947 Taft opposed veto of the Knutson income tax reduction bill, adequate funds for flood control, giving the President power to hold prices down, and making employers liable for violation of the Walsh-Healy, Bacon-Davis, and Fair Labor Standards Acts.

—1946—

Showing his utter lack of understanding of the problems of national health and stability, Taft voted against the school lunch program for underprivileged children on Feb. 26, 1946.

Seeing no reason why service men and women should be recompensed for unused furloughs, due to combat duty on foreign soil, on July 23, 1946, Taft voted against the payment of Terminal Leave pay in full.

In 1946 Taft also opposed sickness and maternity benefits under the railroad retirement bill, Federal ownership of tidelands, and giving labor protection of the Wagner Act.

—1945—

That Taft is consistent in upholding huge corporations with their unholly and unwarranted profits, is seen when he voted against a bill to place a tax on excess profits (July 19, 1945).

—1944—

On Feb. 4, 1944, Taft voted against permitting overseas soldiers to vote in the Federal election; confusing the issue by favoring an alternate plan which would delay and obstruct.

ALL THIS IS BUT a PART of TAFT'S PERSISTENT FIGHT AGAINST THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA

DAILY DOZEN By Bob Dixon

MISERY loves company, the man once said, and we concur. We're glad to see someone else aboard the same boat we've been in many times.

Bud Volzer, the sports ed. of the Canton Repository, joined many other down-trodden scribes the other day when he was accused by the Canton McKinley coaching staff of causing Bulldog defeats on the gridiron.

Volzer answered the McKinley blast in his column—and very well too. He pointed out that if the paper was responsible for losing two games this season, it naturally followed that it could be credited with the huge number of victories hung up by the Bulldogs over the years.

He commented that the McKinley coaches were trying to get off the spot, and at the same time, fire up their charges for the Alliance game. "It's an old trick," he added.

Fortunately, we didn't experience any difficulty over the recent abbreviated football season. The Quakers won their first five tilts despite anything we wrote. Their lone defeat was traceable to other causes. Namely polo.

It's something surprising how many things can bring about a sports setback. Once in a while, we would imagine, it might be the result of playing a better team.

It was good news Monday to learn that the sick Salem High grid stars—Callahan, Colian and Wisler—returned home. The boys were extremely fortunate to come through their ordeal unmarked.

Of course, they and their teammates were keenly disappointed in not being able to complete the grid season. The team this year was one which had been brought along for two seasons and was ready to go. It had a chance to go all the way through, but for one of "those things."

They're still chuckling at the Bowling Center about the guy who complained last week about the "dead wood" on the alleys and proceeded to roll a 650-plus score.

Andy Varipapa, the veteran bowler and trick shot artist, staged an exhibition on the "Bowlers Jackpot" TV show Sunday and was a dismal flop. His "trick shots" were duds, although he rolled about 25 times. Didn't convert any of them.

What's with this rumor about the football season being revived for one last game—against Lis-

Fesler Fights OSU Overconfidence

COLUMBUS, Oct. 31—(AP)—Ohio State's football squad was put through a strenuous signal drill and sprinting session yesterday in preparation for the game with Northwestern at Evanston next Saturday.

Coach Wes Fesler seemed determined to squash any tendency toward "overconfidence" in the squad after last Saturday's 83-21 victory over Iowa.

Fesler said, "We're going to run their pants off this week. We're going to run, run, run, run—just like we did last week. We've got a tremendous problem this week."

"If you've been around youngsters like I have, you'll know they have a tendency to believe what they read. Our problem is to impress on them what can happen if they get out against Northwestern believing all they read about themselves."

Trainers report prospects of the Bucks being in good shape for the Wildcat game are pretty good. Dr. Dick Patton, team physician, had encouraging words on two Buck casualties—defense halfback Dick Widdoes and end Tom Watson.

Ohio State's Vic Janowicz had a perfect day against Pitt, completing six out of six passes for 151 yards.

Two Teams Are Lucky To Make Select Circle

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Oct. 31—(AP)—A couple of Ohio's top ten high school football teams felt pretty lucky to be listed among the elite today.

Hamilton's Big Blue, rated right behind Massillon's 1948-49 state champions, slipped by an aroused Portsmouth Trojan team last week, 6 to 0, to stay in second place, while Canton McKinley jumped from among the "also-rans" to ninth place after defeating Alliance 7-0 in the final seven seconds.

Massillon clung to the top spot, winning its seventh straight by 23-6 over Warren. New Philadelphia, tied by Bellaire, and Toledo Waite, dumped 14-0 by Toledo Central Catholic, skidded out of the top ten as Canton McKinley and Cincinnati Elder moved into the last two spots.

Springfield's Wildcats, last-placers a week ago, leaped to eighth with a 39-6 win over Dayton Wilbur Wright. Barberton's Magics, who test Massillon Nov. 10, clung to the third rung with a 39-0 victory over Canton Central.

Lima Central and Steubenville moved around Portsmouth into fourth and fifth, Central handing Van Wert its first loss, 27-13, and Steubenville's Big Red smothering Akron East 34-7. Sandusky shut out Canton Lincoln 20-0 to hold seventh place.

Doug Goodsell of Upper Arlington scored three touchdowns in the 54-0 win over Urbana, Boosting his seven-game total to 150 points. Archie Sandusky of Gahanna got 30 in a 33-14 victory over Dublin to jump to 146; Hubert Bobo of Chauncey-Dover has 135.

Columbus South defeated Central 33-19 for its third win, the first time since 1942 the club has topped more than a pair in a season. . . . Vic Schoepner of Canton Lincoln scored the lone touchdown in the 20-6 loss to Sandusky, giving him six for the season—which is Lincoln's entire output.

Ohio Moves Up To No. 4 Spot

Mustangs Still First After Idle Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—Southern Methodist's unbeaten Mustangs clung to their No. 1 rating among the country's college football teams today as Ohio State vaulted from sixth to fourth and Miami, Princeton and Illinois squeezed into the top ten.

The Southwest Conference leader, despite a Saturday of idleness, remained the top choice of a majority of the 280 sports writers and sportscasters who voted in the fifth weekly Associated Press poll to determine the nation's outstanding team.

The Mustangs (5-0) grabbed 153 first place votes and accumulated 2,574 points to outdistance second place Army which notched 34 first place nominations and 2,184 points. Although the undefeated Cadets walloped Columbia, 34-0, they gained 50 fewer first place votes than last week when they also were second.

OKLAHOMA retained its third place ranking by trampling Iowa State for its 26th consecutive victory but fifth place Kentucky (7-0) and sixth place California (6-0) dropped down a notch to make room for Ohio State. The Buckeyes, shooting for their second straight Big Ten conference championship, swamped Iowa 63-21.

Ohio State received 30 first place ballots to 25 for Oklahoma, but the Sooners had more seconds and thirds to amass 2,137 points to the Buckeyes' 1,822.

The heaviest voting in the 15 years of the poll also saw Kentucky pick up 17 first place votes, Miami 12, Clemson 3, California Princeton and Wyoming two apiece.

Biggest jump was registered by Princeton. The Tigers leaped from nowhere a week ago to ninth by virtue of their surprising 27-0 victory over Cornell. The Big Red, 10th last week, received only one 10th place vote to drop out of the first 20. Northwestern was another to lose prestige, because of its 14-13 defeat by Wisconsin. The Wildcats, ninth last week, didn't make the first 20.

Blaik Says Army Schedule Tough

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—Army doesn't go around feeling muscles and looking for soft spots in choosing its football opponents, Coach Earl (Red) Blaik said today in defending the Cadets' schedule.

"I don't think our schedule needs a defense," the West Point taskmaster declared. "Year in and year out we play as tough teams as anybody in the country. But I know there has been criticism of our card this year—I don't know where they get it."

Blaik said the Army policy has been to schedule seven big games and plant a couple of lighter foes in the middle somewhere to give the boys a chance to relax.

That would explain the appearance of Harvard, played Oct. 21, and New Mexico, to be met Nov. 11.

"There's nothing unusual about that," the Army coach added in a telephone interview. "Practically every team does it and some spot breathers every other game."

"Look at the schedules of some of the other top ten teams and you will find schedules weaker than ours."

Blaik said in Army's case it was especially necessary to give the team a letup once or twice during the season's grind. "The players aren't given any special consideration at the academy. It's up at 5:50 in the morning just like the other cadets and football practice until dark. That makes it very rough."

Army's head strategist said furthermore the schedules are made out three and four years in advance and it's impossible to tell how they will come out.

"When we scheduled Penn State three years ago they were regarded as one of the best teams in the country," he said. (Penn State finished fourth in 1947 in the Associated Press' final poll.)

"We played Michigan. They were No. 1 when we scheduled them. They were considered one of the best teams in the middle west this year—and still are."

"There's Pennsylvania that we get this week—nobody's calling them an easy touch. Colgate hasn't lost a game since we beat them. Stanford was rated the best team on the coast before the season. Navy is always tough for us."

"Then there are teams like Col-

Civilian Use To Be Slashed 30 Percent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—Cuts of 20 to 30 per cent in the civilian use of copper, nickel and aluminum will probably be ordered within the next 10 days, effective Dec. 1.

That was the word today from an official of the National Production Authority (NPA).

Last week the NPA told manufacturers of radio and television sets, washing machines, refrigerators and other appliances that there was a "tentative plan" of an across-the-board cutback in the three vital metals, which are in demand for airplanes, radar and other war equipment.

Today the plan is a bit more than "tentative," and Dec. 1 is said to have been almost positively chosen as the effective date.

Austin Lauds Work Of Trygve Lie

NEW YORK, Oct. 31—(AP)—The United States, urging that Trygve Lie be continued as U.N. secretary general, appealed to the general assembly today to override Russian efforts to oust him.

"The issue that confronts us now is part of the struggle for peace," U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin told the assembly. "We cannot permit our efforts to be undermined, sabotaged, or attacked indirectly by a veto of the man who had the courage to take his stand against aggression in Korea on the 25th of June."

"We know from experience that Trygve Lie will perform his duty independently and courageously. We know that he will defend the charter."

Austin referred to Russian efforts to veto Lie's re-election in the Security Council.

Police Still Looking For Stolen Cruiser

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 31—(AP)—An audacious thief stole an unmarked police car from police headquarters, then used its two-way radio to tease the cops about it.

After some banter, the thief identified himself as "Norman," named a place where he said he'd leave the vehicle.

Other patrol units sped to the spot. No stolen police car. Then came another call from "Norman." He was a mile from where he said he'd be. Another rush of patrol cars—same story.

Using a radio wave length that car 149's radio could not receive, police broadcast the stolen automobile's description all over the state.

As of mid-morning, the cops were still hunting.

King George Opens Parliament Session

LONDON, Oct. 31—(AP)—King George VI opened a new session of parliament today with a megalomaniacal and a pledge that his ministers will strive "by all means in their power" to ensure successful rearmament to avoid war.

The king rode in state through crowded London streets, with an escort of red-coated household cavalry, to convene what may be the last session of parliament under Prime Minister Attlee's second labor government. Attlee may close it with a new national election.

In his speech from the throne—written for him by the Attlee government—the king disclosed that legislation will be introduced to:

1. Nationalize part of the sugar industry.
2. Give the government permanent powers to regulate production, distribution and consumption of goods and to control prices.
3. Reform the leasehold laws to postpone expiration of 99-year leases on thousands of English homes and buildings.
4. Develop civil defense measures.
5. Expand home food production because of the "disturbed international situation."

Red Hill Community May Change Its Name

CADIZ, Oct. 31—(AP)—Half a mile east of here is the hamlet of Red Hill, so named 112 years ago because of the area's red clay soil.

Now the 16 families there are worrying over their community's name and want it changed. One resident, Mrs. Ralph Thornton, explains:

"I think it sounds unpatriotic. People hesitate before saying 'Red Hill' because they think it might offend us. It does if said with a smile."

So the anti-red Red Hill folk have asked the county school board to name the new school to be built there "Clay Hill school."

Test Field Corn Mature In Area

County Farm Bureau Will Hold Meeting

DISTRICT farmers are invited to compare the results and help in the harvesting of plots of a number of varieties of Hybrid field corn raised during testing programs this year by county growers.

The farmers who raised the corn are cooperating with the Agriculture Extension Service by setting up field meetings. Persons may attend and aid in harvesting the crop.

The first of these series of meetings will be held next Tuesday. Plots on the Fred Hahlen farm, south of North Georgetown, and on the Albert Loudon farm, west of New Garden, will be harvested starting at 9 a. m. Plots on the W. D. Weaver & Son farm will be harvested at 1 p. m. next Monday by the Minerva Vocational Agricultural class and anyone else interested.

A general meeting for comparison of results will be held at the Loudon farm west of New Garden at 2 p. m. next Tuesday. B. F. Morris and John Wilson of the Ohio Hybrid Seed Corn Producers will be present to discuss the results.

Other farmers cooperating in the tests are Donald Rupert of New Waterford; Carl M. Lehman of R. D. 1, East Palestine; Oral Hoopes, north of Winona, and Clyde Freeman, west of Lisbon. Similar meetings will be announced for these farms in the near future. Everyone is invited.

THE 32nd ANNUAL meeting of the Columbiana county Farm Bureau will be held at the Methodist church in Lisbon, Nov. 10. The meeting will begin with a banquet supper at 7:30. Leonard Lowmiller, president, announced today and it is open to all Farm Bureau members, their families and friends.

Election of directors and delegates and the adoption of resolutions are included on the program. A report of the year's activities will be presented. Entertainment will be provided by talent from radio station WLIO, East Liverpool.

Cotton Bowl Ticket Rush Largest Ever

DALLAS, Oct. 31—(AP)—The big rush for tickets for the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl game starts tomorrow with officials forecasting the greatest demand in the 15 years of the Dallas gridiron classic.

Despite the fact that no one knows what teams will play in it, some 30,000 applications by mail asking for 120,000 tickets are expected to jam the Cotton Bowl office within the next four days.

This will be about 95,000 more than will be available since only 25,000 are sold to the public. Bond holders get 20,000 and the competing teams some 30,000.

Applications will be accepted only by mail and only for the Nov. 1-4 period. Then a drawing will be held to establish those who are to get the privilege of buying tickets.

Michigan State Out Of Rose Bowl Scene

CHICAGO, Oct. 31—(AP)—Any hopes Michigan State, winner of five out of six starts thus far, might have of going to the Rose Bowl were squelched today.

K. L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten athletic commissioner, said that a ruling of May, 1949, was made by the conference permitting only a championship contender to play the final two games in the five year series which ends next New Year's day.

Michigan State, which includes Michigan and Notre Dame among its victims, is a member-in-name-only of the conference. The Spartans begin football championship play in 1953.

TV Sets In Stores Will Not Be Taxed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—The new excise tax on television sets, which becomes effective tomorrow, does not apply to sets already in the hands of wholesalers and retailers.

The Internal Revenue Bureau said today the tax, payable by the manufacturer and amounting to 10 per cent of his selling price, won't affect sets which have left the manufacturers' hands by mid-night tonight.

The situation apparently is making for some confusion in pricing by wholesalers and retailers.

The law leaves the manufacturer free to add the extra tax cost to his selling price, thereby boosting the cost on future purchases to the wholesaler, and, in turn, the retailer.
